

POETRY.

THE MIDNIGHT HYMN.

In the mild silence of the voiceless night, When chased by airy dreams, the slumbers flee,
Whom in the dark doth my spirit seek,
Oh God! but Thee!

And if there be a weight upon my breast—Some vague impression of the day foregone—Scarce knowing what it is, I flee to Thee, And lay it down.

Or if it be the heaviness that comes In token of anticipated ill, My bosom takes no heed of what it is,
Since 'tis Thy will.

For oh! in spite of past and present care,
Or any thing beside, how joyfully Passes that almost solitary hour, My God, with Thee!

More tranquil than the stillness of the night,
More peaceful than the silence of that hour,
More blest than any thing, my bosom lies Beneath Thy power.

For what is there on earth that I desire,
Of all that it can give or take from me?
Of whom in heaven doth my spirit seek,
Oh God! but Thee?

DISOBEDIENCE.—It is usual with God to retaliate man's disobedience to their parents in kind; commonly our own children shall pay us home for it. I have read of a wicked wretch that dragged his father along the house; the father begged of him not to draw him beyond such a place, for, said he, I dragged my father no father. This was a sad but just retribution of God.

THE AUTOMATIC ORGAN.

In presenting the Automatic Organ, we boldly announce the greatest triumph in musical instruments of the age. During the past half century, the French and Germans have manufactured reed instruments with double bellows, and two pedals for the feet to operate; but the want of the reversed or exhaustion bellows, (which is the only bellows used in our instruments,) made it impossible for them to produce the mellow, rich and mellow tone for which our instruments are celebrated.

Another objection to this method of blowing was, that both feet being occupied, no opportunity was offered for the management of the swell. Within the past two years, instruments constructed on this European plan of "double bellows" have been manufactured in this country, and to counteract this difficulty (want of a swell) a lever has been projected from the centre of the instrument, to act on the swell, and operated by the knee. The inconvenience and contortion necessary to effect this object, are disagreeable enough to a gentleman, but to a lady the use of such an ap-pendage is nearly impossible.
Our Automatic device obviates this difficulty entirely, the simple act of blowing with more or less force, giving the desired increase or decrease in the volume of the tone. We predict for this invention a brilliant future.

MELODEON AND SCHOOL ORGAN

For seventeen years the superior excellence of our Melodeons has not been questioned, and for two years past the enormous demand has made it impossible for us to meet our orders promptly. With our increased facilities we feel warranted in assuring our patrons that their orders will be promptly met, and solicit a continuance of their patronage.
GEO. A. PRINCE & CO.

CAUTION TO PURCHASERS.

All of our instruments have upon the name boards, in full, "GEO. A. PRINCE & CO."— When a dealer represents any other instrument as "the same as ours," it is usually a mere attempt to sell an inferior instrument, on which he can make a larger profit.
P. S.—A liberal discount to churches, clergymen and schools. Address
